

HON JEFFREY S. BROWN

Justice, Supreme Court of the State of New York, Nassau County (Ret.)

Hon. Jeffrey S. Brown joins NAM after having served as a Justice of the Supreme Court, Tenth Judicial District, Nassau County. While on the bench, he presided over hundreds of jury trials and settlement conferences in a variety of case types that include personal injury, premises liability, negligence and tort cases including hundreds of motor vehicle accidents. Judge Brown also has significant experience handling both medical malpractice and nursing home litigation. The judge has also presided over real estate matters including landlord /tenant disputes, and negotiations of land use cases.

Judge Brown’s distinguished judicial career began as a County Court Judge. Prior to serving on the bench, Justice Brown was Law Secretary to Hon. Allan L. Winick, Supreme Court Justice, County Court Judge.

According to the New York Judge Reviews, attorneys that have appeared before Justice Brown praised him for being “a gentleman” and “very courteous to lawyers and the parties”; “He is very proactive in trying to get settlements”; “He is very approachable, very hands-on and very accommodating, as far as working with you towards a resolution.”; “Treats everyone fairly, you would not find a litigant who doesn’t like him, even if they lost and that’s the standard for assessing whether a judge is fair or not.”

As a practicing attorney, Judge Brown had a successful career as an associate for a prominent New York law firm where his practice focused on personal injury litigation with an emphasis on auto cases, slip and fall, trip and fall, workplace injuries and medical malpractice in State and Federal court. Most of the personal injury matters he handled for the firm involved the Federal Employees Liability Act (FELA) cases against the transportation industry.

Justice Brown has a reputation as a top-notch and approachable trial judge and is recognized as proactive, hard-working and detail oriented. These attributes combined with his 13 years of experience mediating hundreds of cases on the bench gives him the natural skills and extensive legal experience required to assist parties in reaching resolutions in the areas of personal injury, medical malpractice and matrimonial disputes including valuation and division of assets, businesses, property, family support and maintenance.

Justice Brown is available to hear cases throughout the State of New York.
